THIS IS UNEVALUATED INFORMATION

1. "A great majority of Czechoslovak industrial plants which are now [autumn 1953/ sending large consignments of their goods to China, are also burdened with large orders for the USSR. When Czechoslovak exports to China started on a large scale (between autumn 1951 and spring 1952), these Soviet orders - previously, amounting from 24 to 50% of the production - were decreased slightly but not withdrawn. The Chinese orders average 25% of the production. The result is that at least 50% of the whole output of Czechoslovak factories producing export goods goes to the East - to the USSR and China.
2. "Exports from Czechoslovakia to China were slowed down considerably at the beginning of 1953, but about the middle of 1953 they were greatly increased and now show a steady growing tendency.
3. "Some Czechoslovak factories send their goods to China by land, via the USSR or via Transcarpathian Ruthenia to the ports on the Black Sea. But a great part of these exports are transported via Poland and loaded in the Polish ports on the ships of the Chinese-Polish Line.
4. "In Prague, the office of representative of China-Polish Brokers has been established at 6, Revolucni Trida. The head of the office is (fnu) Waksman - Wasiecki.
5. "Czechoslovak exports to China travel through Poland by two alternative routes:
 - a. via Cieszyn and the so-called 'Silesian railway route' to Gdynia.
 - b. by rail from Ostrava to Kozle on Odra, where loaded on river barges for transport to Szczecin.
